More Steel Companies Up Prices

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The new wave of steel prices hikes has spread to two more big companies and may move into two more product lines.

Boosts of $5 a ton on cold rolled sheets were made Tuesday by Republic Steel Corp. and Armco Steel Corp. Armco went further, also increasing galvani-zied sheet and strip by $4 a ton.

Industry sources here feel the boosts on cold rolled sheets, plus the two other items raised by Armco, will spread throughout the industry.

Steels on which prices were increased go into a host of consumer products, including autos and appliances. They also are used in the production of storage tanks and industrial machinery.

Steel industry observers believe the boosts will stick. They feel the Johnson administration's reaction was comparatively mild on the increases on cold rolled sheets, and say the current booming steel market will be able to sustain the boosts.

If all of the increases do hold,
it will mean that prices this year will have been boosted on about 80 per cent of all steel shipments. The latest increases pushed prices up about 3 per cent.

The hike on cold rolled steel was initiated Friday by U.S.
Steel Corp., the nation's biggest producer. Bethlehem Steel Corp., the second biggest steel-maker, quickly followed suit.
Republic is the third largest steel producer.

A question remains as to what effect the increases will have on new car prices. Detroit isn't saying.

Chrysler, Ford and General Motors say they need more time to decide whether they will be able to absorb the price increases, or will be forced to pass them on to car buyers.

In two skirmishes Tuesday along South Vietnam's coastal lowlands U.S. troops reported killing 34 enemy, including a North Vietnamese regimental commander. Three Americans were wounded in the two fights.

U.S. headquarters said papers found on the dead Communist officer indicated he was a major and had command of the North Vietnamese 2nd Division's 3rd Regiment.

South Vietnamese military headquarters announced officially that 47 civilians and seven militiamen were killed by Viet Cong forces who rampaged through the "new life" hamlet of Dakson early Tuesday about 12 miles southwest of Bu Dop.

The government said 20 persons were wounded and three militi-men were missing.

Initial reports on the raid Tuesday set the death toll at 300. It was subsequently scaled down to 20 and then to one, but Robert French, a U.S. public safety adviser to South Vietnamese government visited the hamlet and confirmed the government's latest figure's today.

French estimated that about 40 per cent of Dakson had been destroyed and raised the possibility that additional victims might be found after a thorough search. He also said the Viet Cong flamethrower attack had left "40 to 50 burn cases in the hospital at Song Be."

South Vietnamese headquarters also reported four other mortar and grenade attacks in the past 24 hours in which several civilians were killed or wounded.

In one of the attacks, Communists shelled and assaulted a government military training center 264 miles northeast of Saigon. Military casualties were reported light, but government headquarters said "a number of soldiers' relatives were killed or wounded."

In the air war over North Vietnam, the northeast monsoons limited U.S. pilots to a total of 89 missions Tuesday, most of them again in the southern half of North Vietnam.

But Marine A6 intruders, penetrated the monsoons to at-

Cotton Quota Vote From Dec. 4-8

Hempstead County farmers were reminded today to return their ballots on marketing quotas for the 1968 upland cotton crop—by mail or in person—to the ASCS County Office, R. B. Arnold, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, emphasized that the referendum starts on Dec. 4, and will end on Dec. 8. Marked ballots are to be postmarked no later than the closing date.

Chairman Arnold explained that every effort has been made to inform farmers fully about the allotment-quota program, so that the outcome of the referendum may represent the considered opinion of all the voters.

At issue also are the "domestic allotment" diversion program provisions under which growers may qualify for price-support and diversion payments — in addition to loans— by diverting their cotton acreage at least 5 percent (up to a maximum of 35 percent) below the farm's allotment, putting the diverted acres into a conserving use, and meeting other program provisions. This part of the program can be used only if marketing quotas are approved.

The lease or sale of cotton allotments is included in the 1968 cotton program, regardless of the outcome of the marketing quota vote. Those eligible to vote are all producers who shared in the 1967 cotton crop or its proceeds and the owners and operators of allotment farms where no cotton was planted in 1967. Approval by at least two-thirds of the voters is necessary if the quotas and the upland cotton program are to be effective for the 1968 crop.

Growers who elect not to participate in the diversion program may apply for a share of an export market acreage reserve and grow and export all their cotton without Government assistance and without quota penalties.

If the vote is not favorable, there will be no quotas or penalties applicable to the 1968 upland cotton crop, no price-support or diversion payments, no export market acreage reserve, and price-support loans to growers who do not exceed their acreage allotments will

New Problem Not Enough Cotton Grown

By OVID A. MARTIN
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal farm program to cure a cotton surplus headache has worked well—so well that the government and farmers now fear the nation may face a shortage of home-grown cotton.

The program has done in two years what it was expected to take four years to accomplish:
Make room in the market for a record large surplus.

Now, at the halfway point in its planned operation, the program has forced reductions in cotton supplies that have driven prices up, generated heavy speculation in cotton futures delivery markets and raised the threat of a shortage.

When the 1966 crop was planted there was a record large surplus of nearly 17 million bales—most of it tied up in government hands under grower price-support programs. At that time, domestic and export markets required only about 13 million bales a year.

Congress authorized a four year program under which farmers would be offered substantial payments for cutting back sharply on production.
This reduction was designed to make room in markets for the surplus.

The 1966 and 1967 crops were reduced sufficiently to allow markets to absorb all the surplus. This quicker-than-expected reduction in supplies, aided by bad weather, has been accompanied by sharp price advances.
The government recently announced the 1968 program would seek a 65 per cent increase over this year's very small crop of 7.9 million bales. It aims at encouraging growers to plant larg-

LAST CALL FOR CHRISTMAS CARDS TO VIETNAM SERVICEMEN

Dear Helen: Is there still time to get Christmas cards to Servicemen via Vietnam Mail Call, and could you give us the address just once more?—HOPEFUL

Dear Hopeful: Yes, you may still send Christmas cards to the fellow in Vietnam, by way of VIETNAM MAIL CALL, BOX 3104-A, COLUMBUS, GEORGIA, 31903. Enclose a nickel or a five-cent stamp for each card sent, to help with overseas mailing costs. And be sure to include your name and address, with a personal note, if you wish. Cards should be in the mail before December 12.

Mail Call Director, Paul Stewart, tells me cards have been pouring in—sometimes over

1,000 to a box—at the rate of about 25,000 a day. He estimates his "Project Christmas" will bring a million cards to Servicemen in hospitals, on ships and in the fighting zones. What better way could we Americans say, "We're pulling for you."

If your group is collecting cards, you may send them parcel post, together with a check for overseas postage. Should you send singly, it's best to put your card and envelope inside a larger envelope addressed to VIETNAM MAIL CALL. Don't forget the nickel.

Again, thanks to everyone who has helped with this project. I always knew my readers were great, but when I hear that several hundred thousand of you have taken time from your busy holidays for overseas Mail Call, well, now I'm doubly sure you're the greatest!—H

Dear Helen: My husband thinks every time I go out of the house, I'm going to meet another man. He drives himself crazy, imagining things. I have never had any cause for jealousy.

He checks the mirrors on the car. He makes me retrace my steps and then he calls the bank or market to see if I've really been there. If a man says "Hello" to me he takes me to a secret code.

Last month we went to visit my sister and brother-in-law. I hadn't seen them for a long time. Naturally my brother-in-law hugged me and my sister hugged me. He's 18, I'm 33, and the way he hugged me, it was like a secret code.

Dear TBVB: It's your duty to see this man gets expert counseling. He may consent if you give him a check: either consult a doctor or you'll break the line completely. Abnormal jealousy is a sickness, and it must be treated.—H

In the early '30s, John Rau of New York was sort of a boy wonder of bridge. He played in and won several tournaments including the 1930 team championship of the American Bridge League. Then he went to work away from bridge, but now that he is getting older Johnny has time to play a lot of rubber bridge. He could also play in tournaments but they don't appeal to him any more.

Johnny was a bidder in his youth. Not necessarily scientific but a man who reached for slams and made a lot of them that might well have been beaten if Johnny had used science instead of brute force to get there.

His jump to six clubs with the South hand shows that he still bids somewhat like he did 35 years ago.

West's double and North's redouble were typical rubber bridge bids. Not that West didn't have the right to think that he was going to set the slam—but rather that he had no right to think he would set it more than one trick and wasn't sure of that.

West made the good opening lead of a trump, and Johnny was in dummy with the nine. He led the king of spades. East played low and Johnny stopped to think things over. Then he decided that East really did not hold the ace of his bid suit, so Johnny ruffed.

He played one more trump and led a diamond to dummy's jack. At this point East had two ways to beat the slam. One was to duck that first diamond, the other to win the trick and lead a diamond back. East did neither. He won the trick and shifted to a heart.

Johnny now decided that West's double had been made with the ace of spades and king of hearts. If West also had the long diamond, Johnny saw a simple squeeze.

He went up with the ace of hearts and ran off all his trumps. West started to squirm early but none of it did him any good. He had to hang on to the king of hearts and ace of spades and could not protect the diamonds.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Ivan Tors, who in "Daktari," "Flipper" and "Gentle Ben" has created more animal stars than most producers ever achieve with humans, plans to move into a world more dangerous than the African jungle—daytime television.

In that world of specialty programming, soap operas seem to go on forever. Then there are the reruns of old nighttime programs. And finally, there are the game and panel shows. These are the shows that, unlike the soaps, are given little time to slay around and build an audience. And it is a game show that Tors and his associates will unveil on ABC Dec. 18.

Tors' maiden daytime effort is called "Treasure Isle," and claims to be played out in the most expensive "set" ever created for television—a man-made island and "lagoon"—really a pool loaded with electronic gadgets for special effects.

"Daytime television," said Sherman Adler, an executive of the production company, "is completely dominated by shows made inside studios. This one will be completely taped outside of studios."

That is important, Adler thinks, because he did some research and found that programs shot on location almost invariably received good audience ratings.

The island and lagoon were built near Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and contain a number of animals. Arthur, the owner of a nearby resort, is another real estate mogul.

Tors has been dictated less by love of show business than a desire to promote the location and the hotel—and to help attract more show business from New York and Hollywood. Tors has been a Florida booster for several seasons and has been producing both feature movies and TV series in studios near Miami.

In a fancy setting, contestants will play a rather routine TV game—counting the obstacles bumping into each other's boats, following clues, and finally, digging for treasure.

"It can't miss," said Adler. "It starts in winter and all those people in cold climates will just love looking at tropical Florida."

Suppose they like the palm trees and lagoon but hate the game?

"Well," said Adler, "I really don't have much time to watch TV but I think it's a great game. It will bring people to Florida and show business to Florida."

CBS's rerun of a national drivers test was a welcome refresher Tuesday night for winter drivers. Curiously, it was more helpful on second sight when the viewer was not prepared setting down answers and trying to build up a passing score.

Recommended tonight: "Addin," 7:30-8:30 EST, only a dramatization of the classic by the Prince Street Players; "Dear Friends," CBS, 9-11, original drama by Reginald Rose, with Patricia Barry and James Daly; "Back Back," "A Funny Thing Happened Everywhere," NBC, 9-10.

Armenti said police are being told to ticket cars with unlocked doors as of Dec.

Musial Out, Devine Takes Over Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bing Devine is back with the St. Louis Cardinals team he helped build into a world baseball champion and then watched from New York.

Cardinal owner August A. Busch Jr. announced Tuesday that Devine had been hired as general manager to replace Stan Musial, who asked to leave because of business and personal matters. Johnny Murphy was named acting general manager of the New York Mets, replacing Devine.

Devine, a long-time member of the Cardinals organization, traded for such mainstays of the 1967 World Series champs as Curt Flood, Lou Brock and Julian Javier. It was while Devine was general manager that the Cardinals developed players like Tim Lincecum, Mike Shannon and Dal Maxvill.

Devine stressed that he had turned to the Cardinals because of personal considerations rather than for economic reasons. Even as general manager of the Mets Devine lived in the St. Louis area during the off-season.

He went to the New York Mets in 1964 as the result of a squabble with Cardinal officials. The late Johnny Keane, then Cardinal manager wound up as manager of the New York Yankees, the team St. Louis beat in the 1964 World Series.

Musial was in Acapulco, Mexico, vacationing with his wife when the reappointment of Devine was announced. Busch said Musial came to him just before the baseball meetings in Mexico two weeks ago and asked to be relieved. He said he couldn't devote full time to the job.

The death of Musial's partner in the restaurant business, Julius "Biggie" Garavanti, was a factor in Musial's decision, Busch indicated. Musial will remain with the club as a senior vice president.

Feels Tennis Players Will Back Meet

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Kramer, once the czar of pro tennis, predicted today that the world's leading amateur players will defy their national organizations and back Wimbledon to the hilt in its move for an open tournament.

"I am positive that men such as Arthur Ashe, Charlie Pasarell and Cliff Richey, who form the guts of our Davis Cup team, and Billie Jean King, the queen of women's tennis, would risk suspension and play in an open tournament at Wimbledon," Kramer added.

"That's not all, I think you'll find the same sort of uprising in Australia, France, Italy and other countries where big time tennis is played."

"All the players I've spoken with have the greatest admiration for the Wimbledon plan to hold an open tournament. They are ready to give full support," British Lawn Tennis Association authorities, who conduct the biggest tournament of them all, announced earlier this year that they would throw the 1968 Wimbledon event open to amateurs and pros in defiance of the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

The ILTF, run by the smaller countries, decided last summer against an experimental open tournament.

This week British tennis spokesmen began to show hesitancy about their whole venture because of lack of support from the big tennis-playing nations, such as the United States and Australia.

The American and Australian bodies indicated that they would be forced to suspend any amateur player who competed in an open at Wimbledon.

The British meet Dec. 14 to make a final decision.

Cowboys Defeat Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Oklahoma State warded off a late threat by Arkansas Tuesday night and downed the Razorbacks 61-52 in a non-conference basketball game here.

The Cowboys never trailed in the game, which saw them leading 30-24 at the half.

Arkansas was trailing 45-35 when it began to move with 10:36 left in the second half, and had cut OSU's lead to three points before the Cowboys took over again with 3:51 left and pulled away.

Gene Hawk sank five field goals and hit on 10 of his 13 free throws to lead the Cowboy scoring with 20 points.

Benton Cone added 10 points to the Razorback total, dropping in four field goals and going 2-2 at the free throw line.

Overtimes Needed in Muskies Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Regulation time was over, the score was tied and Dallas' Bob Verga missed two free throws. The first overtime was over, the score still was tied and Minnesota's Mel Daniels missed a free throw.

The second overtime was over, the score still was tied and Minnesota's Gary Keller missed a free throw. But finally the drought ended, Keller sank his second shot and the Muskies beat the Chaparrals 136-135 in an American Basketball Association game at Dallas.

The close victory kept the Muskies atop the Eastern Division by one-half game over Indiana, while Dallas is in third place in the Western Division. Daniels topped the Minnesota scorers with 43 points while Verga led Dallas with 43 points.

In other ABA games, Pittsburgh beat Denver 101-98, New Orleans topped Houston 112-97 and Indiana downed New Jersey 121-106.

In the National Basketball Association, Detroit edged San Diego 111-110, New York crushed Baltimore 148-117, Los Angeles took Philadelphia 128-122 in overtime, Chicago nipped Cincinnati 105-104 and San Francisco thumped Seattle 133-121.

Connie Hawkins scored 38 points and threw in four foul shots in the closing moments for the Pistons' close victory over the Rockets at Pittsburgh. Grant Simmons sparked Denver with 29 points.

Doug Moe's 33 points led the home-court Buccaneers, first in the league's Western Division, to their 17th victory against five losses. DeWitt Menyard was high for the Mavericks with 28 points.

Indiana, led by Roger Brown and Fred Lewis, scored 42 points in the final period in downing the Americans at Kokomo, Ind. Brown had 12 of his 33 points in the last period.

Packers and Rams Meet Saturday

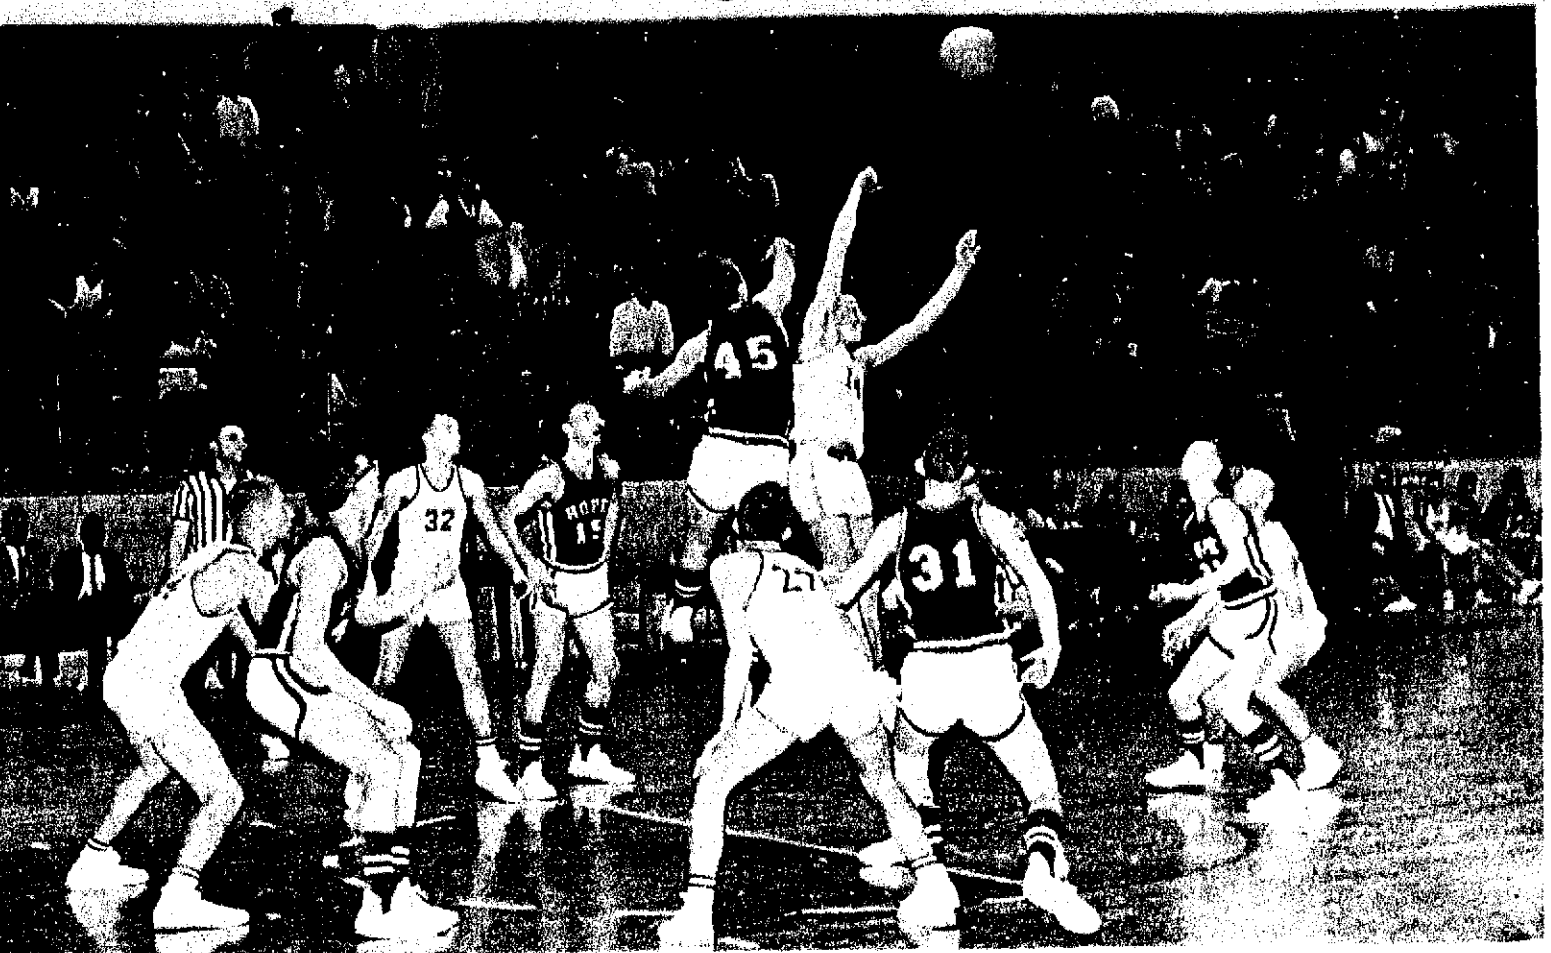

NEW YORK (AP) — The clash of the Los Angeles Rams and the Green Bay Packers in the Memorial Coliseum Saturday afternoon shapes up as the big defensive battle of the season in the National Football League.

The Rams rank first in rushing defense, allowing an average of 76 yards a game in the first 12 games.

Vince Lombardi's battle-tested defensive warriors are first in total defense, yielding 230 yards a game, and also first in pass defense, giving up 90 yards a game.

Los Angeles rates higher than Green Bay on offense although neither club is among the leaders. Baltimore's over-all attack is best with a 374-yard average. Cleveland's running attack is first with 160 yards and Washington's passing barrage has averaged 275 yards. The Rams are sixth in offense and the Packers are ninth.

Bradley Is Ready for Cage Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Can the Bill Bradley mystique be affecting the New York Knickerbockers already?

"I'm available to play basketball," the former Princeton All-American said Tuesday at a news conference when he announced his six-month tour of duty with the Air Force was over.

But he wasn't in uniform Tuesday night when the Knicks took the court at Madison Square Garden. However, he was in the stands.

"Excellent," Bradley said after watching the game.

And excellent was just what the Knicks were in need of. The Baltimore Bullets 148-117.

"I think Bradley coming in today had something to do with it," said forward Dick Van Arsdale. "At least for the moment something."

Willis Reed thought the Knicks' top effort surely was the result of good play. But then the big center added:

"Psychologically maybe it Bradley's presence at the Garden did help."

But it is Bradley's appearance on the court that the Knicks want and need.

The National Basketball Association club signed Bradley to a four-year, $500,000 contract last spring after he had spent two years in England as a Rhodes Scholar.

"I was beginning to have a little trouble sleeping at night in my eagerness to get going," said Bradley, who had not been expected to end his sixth-month service tour until Jan. 6.

But Bradley said that when he arrived at McGuire AFB Monday to continue his tour, he was notified of a regulation that permitted him to get out early because he had completed his training. He still must attend reserve meetings one weekend each month for the next 7 1/2 years.

"I'll be ready to play when Mr. Donovan (General Manager Ed Donovan) and Mr. McGuire (Coach Dick McGuire) think I should. I think it will be on a day-to-day basis."

McGuire, whose team has a 12-14 record and is fourth in the Eastern Division, said Bradley would not accompany the team to Boston for its game with the Celtics tonight but that he would work out with the club Thursday.

Quakers

Quakers, a name frequently used to describe members of the Religious Society of Friends, was first applied to the society in 1650 because of their so-called habit of trembling at the word of God.

Taylor in Tie for Pass Receptions

NEW YORK (AP) — Ois Taylor, Kansas City's talented flanker, has moved into a tie with Oakland's Hewitt Dixon for the American Football League's pass reception lead.

But that didn't do Len Dawson, the KC quarterback, much good.

Dawson, the passing leader for most of the season, slipped to second place behind Oakland's Darle Lamontea after a 42-23 decision to Prescott, the local Sonnet girls won by a 61-38 score while the Roberts downed the Prescott team 60 to 40.

Scenes above are from the senior games. The Hope boys are in the dark jersey. The local girls are in the light jerseys.

Taylor and Dixon have each shared 55 passes—two better than George Sauer of New York. Taylor, who runs longer patterns than Dixon, a fullback, has gained 819 yards to the Oakland player's 724.

Denver's Floyd Little, who returned a punt 72 yards for a touchdown against New York last Sunday, leads that department, averaging 16.9 yards per return on 16 attempts.

Jim Nance of Boston returns the rushing leader with 1,017 yards gained in 232 attempts. Houston's twin running threats, Booby Granger and Willie Campbell, show the best averages. Granger is averaging five yards per carry and Campbell 5.2.

Last night at Jones Field House Hope and Prescott tied up in three games and two local teams were victorious.

The Hope Junior boys dropped a 42-23 decision to Prescott. The local Sonnet girls won by a 61-38 score while the Roberts downed the Prescott team 60 to 40.

Scenes above are from the senior games. The Hope boys are in the dark jersey. The local girls are in the light jerseys.

Princeton Still Ranks With Best

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Princeton dropped out of the Top Ten in The Associated Press college basketball poll this week, but take it from Jack Kraft, Villanova coach, the Ivy League champions rank with the best.

Princeton gained national prominence during the senior year of All-America Bill Bradley. They finished third to UCLA in the 1965 NCAA championship postseason tourney with Bradley setting a single game NCAA record of 58 points against Wichita State.

"This team is better than the Bill Bradley teams," Kraft said after the Tigers had demolished his Villanova boys 77-52 at Princeton Tuesday night.

"I don't know what you can do to beat this club," Kraft continued. "I don't know of any other team in the country that has three better shooters than Joe Helser, Geoff Petrie and John Harlow. And those big fellows, Chris Thomforde and John Hummer kill you under the boards."

Helser scored 19 points, Petrie 18 and Harlow 14 as the Tigers routed the Wildcats. "I've got a good club, too," Kraft said. "This is the worst defeat I've ever suffered with this much talent."

Princeton's ruthless efficiency against Villanova after a three-point squeaker over Army last week overshadowed the surprise 64-61 victory of Miami of Ohio over sixth-ranked Dayton and the easy opening game victory of 10th-ranked Boston College over Dartmouth 116-69.

In other major games Tuesday, Notre Dame beat Wisconsin 81-73, Kansas State downed Minnesota 81-55, Wichita State whipped Mississippi State 97-67, Davidson crushed Furman 95-68, Marshall edged Morehead 79-78 and Southwestern Louisiana became a giant killer of the small colleges by downing Baylor 80-79 for its second win over a major team.

Two free throws by sophomore Bob Carlton with 18 seconds left assured the Miami Redskins of their upset over Dayton on the Flyers' home court. Don May, Dayton star, was held to six points in the first half although he got 18 in the second half for a total of 24. Fred Foster paced Miami with 22.

Coach Bob Cousy cleared his Boston College bench as the Eagles routed Dartmouth at Newton, Mass. Terry Driscoll was high for BC with 16 points.

Oklahoma State scored a 61-52 road triumph over Arkansas. In home court victories, Boston University downed Connecticut 79-72, Rhode Island defeated Massachusetts 76-66 and Northwestern humbled North 87-69.

Houston's Big Play May Be the Best

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If the Cleveland Browns go on to win the Century Division title the big play that Jim Houston made last Sunday could turn out to be the most important of the season.

Cleveland led New York 17-7 in the fourth quarter but the Browns were moving. They had the ball on the Browns' 24 when Fran Tarkenton dropped back to pass.

Tarkenton's intended target was Aaron Thomas, running a sideline pattern, but Houston, the Browns' left line-backer, picked off the ball and ran 79 yards for the touchdown that wrapped it up for Cleveland.

Houston also blocked a Pete Gogolak field goal attempt from the 50 in the first quarter. His performance in the Browns' 24-14 victory made Houston the Associated Press' choice as Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

"Tarkenton tried to bend me over my head," said the 30-year-old Houston. "Leroy Kelly (Browns) by running back, taught me everything I know. I gave that best guy the Leroy straight arm."

Houston brushed past Tarkenton and was pursued by Willie Young, who was the victim of the straight arm after a long chase.

On the blocked field goal, Houston said, "We had a rush on. Walter Johnson (defensive tackle) occupies the man ahead of him, Bobby Cresney, he just grabbed Cresney, hit him and pushed him aside. The back who was supposed to block took our two outside men and left me open."

Hundreds in Protest of the War

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Masses of shouting antiwar demonstrators marched on the Lower Manhattan armed forces induction center this morning to begin the second round of protests aimed at closing the center.

Chanting "Hell no, we won't go!" and carrying a huge banner reading "Bring our GIs home," one group marched on Broadway while police pounded a cadence on the barricades with their nightsticks.

The full 28,000-man police force was on standby alert and the streets surrounding the center were filled with officers, a number of them mounted.

The protesters divided up into large roving bands that swept through the streets in the area of the center at 39 Whitehall St., harassing police and shouting slogans such as "Peace now!"

Police had made 20 arrests by 7:45 a.m. The rapid movement of the groups made it difficult to estimate their number but it was apparent to newsmen there were more than the approximately 1,000 who demonstrated Tuesday.

As the group gathered in Battery Park before dawn reporters spotted about 300 green-buttoned plainclothes policemen. As the march began, several took off their buttons and joined in the ranks.

One demonstrator carried a Viet Cong flag and others shouted "Don't go, don't go!" at a group of inductees entering the center.

Today's demonstrators were generally younger than those Tuesday. Sponsors of the demonstration today said they would use tactics "inspired" by an Oct. 16 anti-drug protest in Oakland, Calif., where vehicles were set on fire and missiles thrown.

Cattlemen Talk Meatless Meat

ELLENSBURG, Wash. (AP) — The subject of the speech at the opening session of a short course for cattlemen was meatless meats.

John Harvey of Des Moines, Iowa, associate editor of Successful Farming, told the cattlemen Tuesday that meatless meats, made from soybean fiber, have two major drawbacks: They are more expensive than real meat and taste terrible, if not properly prepared.

But he predicted a promising future for edible soy protein products as a group of new foods—"foods that do not resemble or stimulate foods we've known in the past."

Nothing came of it, back in the 1920's—because the public had grown so intense the petty politicians gave up and the Union County Grand Jury backed down in its demands that we talk. But the breath of jail was hot on our collective necks.

That's my story—and that's the real meaning of "contempt of court" when used against law-enforcement officers and the press.

Minor Damage in Accidents

Yesterday in the 200 block of South Main a car driven by Raymond Johnson hit another driven by Mrs. E. P. Young with minor damage resulting. City Officer R. Rowe said Johnson was backing out of a parking space when the accident occurred.

Later yesterday a truck driven by Walter Jones and an auto driven by Martha Nell Tompkins collided near a store at the end of South Main. Officer C. Abbott reported damage was small.

No charge was filed in either wreck.

Eye-Witness at Pearl Harbor 27 Years Ago Was a Hope Sailor

By DALE McKINNEY
of Hope, Water-Tender J-C Thursday being Dec. 7 my memory goes back 26 years to recall what I saw of the Japs' sneak attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941.

My ship, a destroyer, had been out of Hawaii the week before the attack on gunnery exercises. We entered Pearl Harbor Saturday evening, Dec. 6. A small number of the ship's crew was given liberty to expire aboard ship at 8 a.m. Dec. 7.

I had the duty and with a fireman had the 4 to 8 a.m. fire-room watch. About 6:45 a.m. I went up topside to sign the log at the fire-room hatch. While there I stood and gazed over the harbor—it was so nice and peaceful.

I looked up the row of battle-ships. The Arizona was the last one on the end from where we were anchored. Then I heard the sound of a couple of planes. At the time I thought they were planes from Ford Island.

Then one came down low enough for me to spot the red dots on the wings (Rising Sun)—and I realized they were Japs.

Then more planes began to come over the horizon. One peeled off and dropped a bomb over about Ford Island.

I realized we were being attacked. I ran to the quarter-deck, pulled the general alarm switch, and told the deck watch to arouse the crew—"The Japs are attacking!"

The crew came up still in their night clothes and manned the 5-inch gun and the 20 mm's. Ammunition was rushed up from the magazines.

By this time Jap planes were swarming over the harbor and the battleships were being hit with full force—and the sad thing was that their guns were nearly all out of commission because of a big inspection that was going to take place, or in fact had already taken place on Saturday.

About this time a plane dropped a bomb down the stack of the Arizona. The ship was completely torn up and loss of life ran high. The explosion from the Arizona shook our ship like an earthquake.

The whole harbor now was on fire, oil burning everywhere. During all this time our guns were pounding with everything they had. One Jap plane made a run for us and just before he released his bomb we shot him down. The plane splashed in the water on our port side. It was so close we could see the pilot grinning and waving.

Another Jap was headed for the hospital ship Solace even though the Red Cross was visible all over it. We got this plane just before it got the Solace.

The attack went on, the Japs returning to their carrier to refuel, and then coming back on us.

again. Pearl Harbor was ablaze. Most of the ships were either sunk or out of commission. I remember several of the battle-wagons were resting on the bottom of the harbor with their masts and gun turrets still visible.

Our casualties exceeded 4,000 including 2,117 killed. I could go on and on about this but will stop here and say:

Dec. 7, 1941 may not ring a bell with a lot of people but it is one date I can not forget. I am lucky to be able to tell about that experience, and went on through seven more major engagements in the Pacific War. God certainly watched over me and to Him I give thanks.

U.S. Rains Bombs on Red Camps

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force B-52 bombers dumped 450,000 pounds of bombs today on suspected Communist build-up areas near the Cambodian border and just inside North Vietnam.

In two early morning strikes, the eight-engine Stratofortresses dropped 300,000 pounds of explosives on suspected Communist weapons positions and troop concentrations two and three miles north-northeast of the Bu Dop Special Forces Camp 86 miles north of Saigon.

Heavy fighting and Communist mortar and artillery attacks have engaged the Americans off and on since last week around Bu Dop, which is only three miles east of the Cambodian border. Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops have been reported building up in the area from sanctuaries in Cambodia.

The following telegram is at the Western Union Office to be sent to Judge William Kirby of Little Rock. Any citizen may sign it for 25¢. It will be sent Friday, December 8th at 4 p.m. says Dr. Lester Stizes, spokesman for a group behind the move.

"We the undersigned citizens of Hempstead County do hereby protest the unwarranted jailing of Col. Lynn Davis. We regard it as an affront to law and order and must serve to encourage criminals all over America. We urge you to withdraw this action immediately before further harm is done to the law enforcement procedure and we the Citizens of Arkansas will stand helpless before the criminal element."

In a third raid, the B-52s unloaded 150,000 pounds of bombs on suspected Communist anti-aircraft and artillery positions, bunkers and supply areas along the southern tip of North Vietnam 12 miles north-northeast of the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien. The North Vietnamese are believed to have from 35,000 to 40,000 troops along the frontier area.

Fighting flared briefly again at Bu Dop Tuesday after a weekend of heavy Communist mortar and artillery attacks. A company from the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, sent in last week to reinforce the special forces camp, ran into two Communist platoons—about 70 men—who were in fortified positions less than a mile from the Bu Dop airstrip.

In a brief skirmish, the American infantrymen reported killing 10 of the enemy while suffering four wounded. The Communist platoons were reported armed with two wheel-mounted machine guns and 82mm mortars.

Willis Smith to Replace Judge Howard

Willis B. Smith, Sr., 64, of Texarkana, Arkansas, has been appointed Chancellor and Probate Judge, First Division, 6th Chancery Circuit of Arkansas. Judge Smith will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Wesley Howard, who resigned because of ill health.

Judge Smith will be sworn in at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, December 6, by Judge William Arnold III, at the Miller County Court-house in Texarkana.

Governor Winthrop Rockefeller, in making the appointment, chose Judge Smith from a list of persons recommended by the Judicial Selection Committee of the Arkansas Bar Association.

Governor Rockefeller has called on the Bar Association to assist him in making judicial appointments because he has said that such appointments should not be made on a political basis.

Barrier Is Removed to School Bill

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's withdrawal of a hotly argued amendment on school busing removes a major barrier to passage of the $14.2 billion federal school aid bill.

The Senate Republican leader, apparently sensing defeat after two days of debate, withdrew Monday night his proposal to bar use of federal funds for busing pupils in order to overcome racial imbalances in schools.

Southern senators have other pending proposals to weaken the impact of civil rights laws, making possible further prolonged debate on the legislation.

But Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., leading the administration's fight for the measure in its present form, expressed hope Southern opposition could be turned back in time to send the bill to a House-Senate conference by week's end.

The Southern opposition is focused on two proposed amendments.

One, sponsored by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., would prevent the Department of Health, Education and Welfare from cutting off aid to any district after a school year started.

It would apply even when the school was found to be violating the section of the 1964 Civil Rights Act barring federal funds for projects where racial segregation is practiced.

Slander Suit Filed by Prison Panel

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Five members of an inmate panel at Cummins Prison Farm filed a slander suit in Pulaski Circuit Court Tuesday against Thomas O. Murton, assistant state prison superintendent in charge of Tucker Prison Farm.

The panel members, who tour the state telling civic clubs, church groups and school children how they wound up in prison and what the prison life is like, accused Murton of "character assassination."

They seek no money in the suit—just a public apology for Murton's charges that members of the panel and members of the now inactive Cummins Prison band had engaged in "sexual exploits and drinking" while on their trips.

Intruders Were Luckless

ROSLYN, N.Y. (AP) — Three men armed with shotguns forced their way into the home of executive Norman Kauffman in this New York suburb Tuesday, hit the maid, Maryanne Bradshaw, over the head and aimed their guns at Mrs. Kauffman and her daughter.

One man stepped forward, police said, and the gun held by another man went off. The shotgun pellets wounded the first intruder in the back.

The two uninjured men carried the third to a waiting station wagon and made off, leaving the Kauffmans unhurt and the maid suffering from minor contusions.

Plot to Kill Rockefeller Investigated

By GEORGE F. BARTSCH
Associated Press Writer

BILL BUCKLEZ
Of The Arkansas Gazette

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — A prisoner being questioned about an alleged plot to assassinate Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller dropped out of sight today, leading to speculation that authorities were to give a lie detector test.

The San Angelo Standard-Times said that the prisoner, Zakar Garoogian, 34, was not in his jail cell today. It also said Police Chief Melvin James and State Police intelligence officers from Texas and Arkansas who had quizzed Garoogian Tuesday were not to be found either.

Garoogian's lawyer, Jack Ray of San Angelo, said today that he could not locate either Garoogian or James. He said he presumed his client was with James.

The newspaper said police sources indicated that James and other officers may have taken Garoogian to Midland or Austin for a lie detector test.

There was also an unofficial report that the alleged assassination attempt would be by means other than firearms, but no explanation of other means was given.

Maj. Kenneth McKee, director of the Highway Patrol Division of the state Police Department, said he had learned of the purported plot about 6 p.m. Monday and that two State Police officers had been sent to Texas.

The AP learned that the two men were Maj. Bill Streubling and Capt. Buck Halsell, both of the State Police Department's Criminal Investigation Division.

State Police Director Lynn A. Davis, contacted at the Pulaski County Jail where he was imprisoned Tuesday after being held in contempt of court for refusing to answer Grand Jury questions about the source of gambling information, confirmed that these were the officers. He refused, however, to say whether they were in Texas to investigate reports of the plot, or whether he was aware

Calls Incident Embarrassing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Paul Meers of Little Rock said Tuesday night that the jailing of State Police Director Lynn A. Davis was alarming and embarrassing.

"It seems rather odd to me that the only people who see the inside of our jails are the reporters who report the facts and the officers who try to enforce the law regarding gambling," Meers said.

He added, "It's time the citizens of this community stood up to be counted and let the men responsible for this condition know how they feel about it."

Meers said that as a Democrat he was embarrassed that some of his party officials have harassed a Republican administration in its efforts to crack down on gambling.

Petition Filed to Gain Release

By ROBERT L. SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — State Police Director Lynn A. Davis went to jail Tuesday and said he was prepared to stay "until hell freezes over" rather than name an informant who gave him information that led to gambling raids here.

Davis, however, may win his release today. His attorneys were expected to petition the Arkansas Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus to free him from Pulaski County Jail.

Circuit Judge William J. Kirby held Davis in contempt of court Tuesday for refusing to tell the Pulaski County grand jury and the judge the name of an informant whose information led Davis to conduct raids in which 12 persons were arrested on gambling charges Sept. 9.

"As far as I'm concerned, he's going to answer the questions or stay in jail until he makes up his mind to do it," Kirby said.

Davis said he would not divulge his informant's name because revealing confidential sources "puts law officers out of business." He also had said previously that identifying his informant might place that person in jeopardy.

"I'm prepared to stay here, frankly, until hell freezes over," Davis told reporters. He was permitted to leave his cell for a news conference in the jailhouse.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, visibly angered, flew back to Little Rock from a northwest Arkansas speaking tour to join Davis at the news conference. The governor pledged his support.

"No one can be pleased at this other than the gamblers and the hardened criminals," he said.

Rockefeller said he believed the jailing of the 33-year-old Davis was political harassment aimed at both himself and Davis, a former FBI agent who was appointed to his position last August.

"I find it hard to believe otherwise," Rockefeller said.

The governor said requiring law officers to reveal the names of their informants would lead to anarchy and "absolutely demoralize law enforcement officers in the United States."

Kirby refused to repeat the question Davis wouldn't answer, but the state police director said he had declined to name his informant. "No law enforcement officer worth his salt can get along without confidential informants," he said.
